1	Location	8/10	Run was set from Musgrave Park, South Brisbane with pre-run entertainment provided by fit young women doing their exercise routine.
2	Pre-run Instructions	7/10	Mo'T gave a stirring welcome to the hashers with clear, precise instruction for the 30 or so walkers and about 15 runners that the trail was set with such precision that all would arrive at the drink stop within minutes of each other. The carrot or in this case, international beers would be provided at the drink stop. Snappy contributed with information for walkers that their trail was set with pink and blue chalk. Snappy presented his son and friend with a challenge to hashers that if they could beat them home, additional international beers would be provided to the victors.
3	The Run	8/10	The trail, for those technically minded, is provided by Grewsome (see attachment), and provides great detail of the journey undertaken. For the luddites, the run commenced with a speedy dash down and along Southbank, through the Mater Hospital, around the back streets of Highgate Hill, and on to the drink stop at Highgate Hill Park, Dornoch Terrace, followed by a quick dash to On Home XXXX. Although the trail was generally well marked, grades were reduced for a RG being marked in a car parking space and circles not drawn around the RGs. Thanks Bugs for bringing to attention.
4	The Circle	10/10	A visitor from Hamersley Hash WA, and Snappy's son and friend got a freebie by GM F*#knut . Choirmaster Tinkerbell entertained with a specially penned song about Hamersley Hashers. Monk Little Arse Play , in great form of late, was unable to tell a story about Snappy due to his son being present. However, was able to update the circle with late efforts by Brengun , who misled the Monk with trail information, and has now surged into favoritism for the end of year SOTW award. It was GM F*#knut who turned the tables on the Monk with a story about a planned weekend away without informing his partner. As protocol would have, the Monk was able to nominate a stand-in, being Beachball , for the icing and the eventual awarding of the SOTW.
5	Nosh	7/10	The venue was the Greek Club. Only a dozen or so ventured in for a meal only to be greatly disappointed that the expected 4 course meal at 1985 prices were again not available. However the service was friendly and the Greek beers very tasty.
	The Hares Score	80%	This score represents a good solid pass being an A- . Still room for improvement with trail markings and to find that elusive 4 star cheap as chips nosh venue. Look forward to another report card in the combined 160 years run.
