

Nudgee Beach Mud Run 19th January 2015

Hares Verbal and Floater

For those who did not read the 2014 Mud Run Report a link to it is given below at the end of this report. The numbers were down on last year. Was it weather forecasts or are we becoming "sissy"?

This scribe was a walker, however with the aid of one of the few runners Tinkerbell, some run information is incorporated in the report. The walk was a wander through the mangroves and fairly soon back to the start venue. Optus, Mortein, Layup and Barebum added further to the walk more towards the waste refuse dump area and completed a loop back along the sea shore. On return, all the other BHH walkers were already into the Hash beer. That was Anchovy, Shitbags, Bullrushes, Zit, Dolebludger and anyone else scribe cannot remember.

The Brisbane Hash House Harriers runners were only four, Craft, Royal Screw, Tinkerbell and Bugs. Irish decided to change to the walkers after 100m.

The runners set off west up Nudgee Beach, before crossing the boardwalk, and swimming over Nudgee Creek at its mouth. The water was fairly shallow exempt for the last section, which had the tide coming in with a strong current. Irish Joke pulled the pin around here, and was seen joining the Runners with Layup and Barebum. Then it was through some mangroves, wading through dead lake, and up a track heading north-west towards Nundah Creek.

Ned, Shake It and Tinkerbell led the way, followed by Bugs, then a gap back to eight other runners that included Craft, Royal Screw and Lickaclit. Royal Screw was complaining that the duct tape which Tinkerbell had used to re-attach the soles to his old runners hadn't worked, and they'd fallen off somewhere in the mud.

Fortunately the rest of his old Asics stayed together & he was able to continue. There was some good mud here, to slip & slid across. Near Nundah Creek, the ankle deep water was full of stranded blue jellyfish, that the runners dodged. After a second re-group and Tinkerbell's rendition of "Stand On Your Head, Fall Through Yer Arse", the runners straggled back south-east through mangrove swamps between Nundah & Nudgee Creeks, before swimming across Nudgee Creek to the end of O'Quinn Street and running "On Home" in the fading light.

The On-On was kindly managed by Brisbane Northside Nash House Harriers under the guidance of their Grandmaster Ned and the ever present Fakarwee. For $10.00 for two beers, a feed of sausages, onions bread and accompanying salad the catering was well organised.

There was representation for Thirsty Hash, Northside, Half Way and Bayside. Very few Brisbane Hash House Harriers. Was this because Radar was not involved in the organisation?

Bite and Suck talked about the on-going court case for Hardcock and Sheath, she indicated donations for financial assistance would be appreciated. So far Half Way has raised $1,000.00.

Royal Screw took the floor as Hash Monk and after a long winded diatribe about Anchovy organising a Hash tour to Tasmania in minute detail, revealed that he had forgotten to book the airflights, thus bringing to an end the tour. Anchovy was the SOW.
