

Run 2466

Hares: Embryo, Fang, Tweety

A Day in the (Long) Life

Did you hear the news today...Oh Boy!

That Embryo just turned ninety-one

Inscribed in the hash calendar

The Old Man made sure that we all had fun

He set a run at Oxley Heights

With co-hares Tweety and his good son Fang

Venue of old pines and city views

And to the his health all the hashmen sang

Wisdom of age wins every time

Embryo domained while Tweety set the run

No body was really sure to trust the call from hares

NO HILLS! A run for every..every..every..every..every..every..every..everyone

Tinkerbelle was taking turns

With Even Optus finding two-way checks

While Trailman Bugs was well prepared

To keep pack hardmen from losing trail

No body was really sure to trust the call from hares

NO HILLS! A run for every..every..every..every..every..every..every..everyone

In full view of Darra tip

Shameless XXXX took a little spill

His only option to take a walk

And all directions seemed to be uphill

He was not really sure to trust the call from hares

NO HILLS! A run for every..every..every..every..every..every..every..everyone

A pack of stayers with torchlights to see

Scruff, Craft, Splat, Peewee and JC

Found the north-west frontier route to home

Beside the Monastery of the Path to the Way

The monks would know not to trust the call from hares

NO HILLS! A run for every..every..every..every..every..every..every..everyone

Fang had the sauce and snags in hand

Embryo presented beers to every man

SOTW was placed on dobber Optus

When Tweety should have been the one to pay

For his deceitful plea to trust the call from hares

NO HILLS! A run for every..every..every..every..every..every..every..every..every..everyone

Run 8/10

Food-Beer 9/10

OnOn

XXXX

