

ORDINARY MEMORIAL RUM

Run no: 2503

Date: 5 February 2018

Location: Paddo Hotel

Hares: Waste of Time and Moretein

On arrival at the carpark, witnessed the usual smug looking hares, WOT and Moretein, looking down on the assembled bunch from the pub balcony with schooners ale- they looked a bit rooted-hard to be not rooted when setting a run around Paddington. Usual explanation from hares that it was a flat run and that they only ran through valleys. Our GM tried to control the masses but gave up and sent them on their way.

We were off up Latrobe Terrace and then down to the right to the first valley. The trail wound its way through tight Paddo streets and eventually up to Waterworks Road where it crossed over, down a street and then a weird loop back to stairs. The trail headed out through the Kelvin Grove campus, some eye candy but not a lot of quality.

The ~~wankers~~ walkers eventually, headed past Ordinary's old residence and a well-earned drink stop, where Wasta was in charge of supplying rumbos to the sweaty multitude. "Only Runners can have a drink he said , but as usual no one took any notice!" says Wasta as we ventured off-back down the ICB and over the footbridge to Brisbane Grammar School—the front runners picked up the pace, including Splatt and Tight Nut as we could smell the beer at the end. Down Petrie Bight and to the right to the footbridge for the sprint home.

All in all, a good run-no bush at all, no grass-just bitumen, a longish run.

Circle was boisterous-Wasta nominated for SOTW for who knows what – anyway he got the award

Paddo food good and quick service from the button popping wenches serving.
