

Run: 2552 'The Evolution Run' Ugly Tomato Cafe, 100 Holmead Road, Eight Mile Plains.

Date: 21/1/2019

Hares: XXXX & Ron the Bomb

Circle Report:

Tweety started the circle on time with about 30 hashers and three visitors; Fuck-a-Duck from the deep north, Afterburner from Wagga Wagga and his mate Max – another one.

Luftwaffe's daughter and grandson also turned up and watched proceedings.

No complaints by the 7 runners about the run, although hilly the run was short, with the runners getting back in before the walkers. Cooling down station provided by Lufwaffe's daughter and grandson who threw water bombs at the runners as they went past.

A great surprise happened and Boxa produced the hash piss which was missed last week.

In the circle, usual down downs were held for visitors and milestones.

Pushup called up Fuck-a-Duck and recounted past misdemeanours. Everybody who knew Fuck-a-Duck joined in and told their story.

The usual suspect Multiple Choice was also held to account over his fraternisation with the local constabulary. Although thanked for his troubles he did not get any award but did get a lift home. Consequently the circle favourite - Multiple Choice, with no other obvious contenders, was awarded Shit of the Week.

Another surprise and XXXX held a raffle. Winners included a cast of thousands.

Good territory, easy parking, reasonable food – worth a another run from the venue.

onon

Leech