

The Gap Tavern – 17 May 2021

I've been absent for 4 to 5 weeks. Will they recognise me? How will they know I'm back? I know I'll get someone to phone me in the circle, that always get some attention. Bugger, worked too well & I've ended up with the run report. Will try something else next time.

The pack gathered & was sent off with familiar instructions. The walk took us over Waterworks Road leading to a first point of interest, namely Taylor Range Country Club where I was reliably informed that this was where Pushup played squash. This is still to be confirmed and could be nothing more than a ruse to suggest that Pushup is/has been a multi faceted elite athlete/sportsman/person.

All went well following the well marked trail when after a loud call of ON On a clearly distressed local was heard to say from the dark surrounds of his back yard 'Oh no there's more of them'. We can only assume the runners were up to no good as they preceded us.

The front walkers (me) were caught out by a clearly marked arrow from the runners showing straight ahead only to find out 200 metres later that it was really straight ahead to the RHS.

The rest of the trail took us through the dark confines of the Ashgrove walking tracks and the occasional incline in the back streets.

The circle had a cranky GM and then our revered Monk once again having no dirt or shit to put on anybody. It was left to Craft to show one & all his bloody run injuries. Circle finished in record time and we quickly moved on to the pub with beer.

Run/walk – 9/10
